

Vol. 1 SCREEN MAGAZINE.
©CLM 11732 Issue No. 64 MAR 21 1918

NOTWITHSTANDING that winter is about over, the Coal Conservation Committee through this medium tells the homesteader how to run his furnace to the best advantage. This number of the Screen Magazine also gives an interesting picture of the New York State Mounted Police, a body of men which was only organized a year ago, and has already made a name for itself. An enterprising resident of Greenwich Village shows how to make ukeleles out of cigar-boxes, but the big punch of this Screen Magazine is the third and final chapter of the making of a newspaper, which brings the process down to the time when, at thousands of points in the busy city, the newsboy is hollering, "World, Journal, Sun, Mail, Post, Globe and Brooklyn Eagle."
